        <h2>Welcome to my Midterm Exam project!</h2>
        <hr />

          I am pleased to present this project which is the result of my hard work and dedication in developing skills in HTML, CSS and JavaScript. This project is also a testament to my success in completing the Midterm Exams. Through a deep understanding of programming languages and web design, I have created innovative and attractive solutions. In this project, I have applied concepts learned during my university days, such as using HTML for the basic structure of web pages, CSS for aesthetic appearance and layout, and JavaScript for dynamic interactivity. I hope that this project will reflect my progress and be the first step in my journey as a competent web developer.
